

Head of Manufacturing ERP Consulting

(m/f/d) | Munich, Germany | Hybrid

Lead challenging projects that implement and further develop business IT solutions in the manufacturing industry. From day one, you take on a lot of personal responsibility and lead and build a competent and dedicated team of experts. This role will lead you directly to partnership!

We are much. Consulting a fast-growing international consultancy with a focus on business IT & ERP systems. We are ambitious, team-oriented & passionate about our work. You seek professionalism but without the usual rigid structures & processes? Look no further!

Our offer

- Your expertise counts: lead your own team, contribute your expertise and help us to expand our success even further
- Real impact: with us, nothing is set in stone - shape the company, turn your own ideas into action and make the difference
- Innovative, result-driven work culture: look forward to fast decision-making and lean, orderly processes
- A motivated, high-performing team: work with like-minded professionals with strong expertise and passion for what they do
- Flexibility at its best: we believe in true work-life balance and reasonable working hours - structure your work in a way that suits your life best, in the office or at home
- Plenty of other benefits: annual bonus, fitness centre, bike leasing, state-of-the-art equipment - we go beyond fruit baskets & free drinks

Your profile

- At least 4 years of experience as an IT or ERP consultant
- At least 2 years of relevant work experience in a manufacturing context
- Proven leadership and exceptional team management skills
- Convincing personality and great interpersonal skills
- Very sharp comprehension skills, analytical way of working & high commitment
- Passion for challenging tasks and joint progression
- German & English speaking team player

Your tasks

- Lead and manage your team through ERP projects in the manufacturing industry
- Define and implement innovative IT architectures, drive state-of-the-art business strategies
- Build, manage and further develop our consulting practices
- Guide your talented team through challenges and enable them to thrive
- Maintain and expand business relationships with our clients
- Take part in pre-projects and convince clients of our services and solutions
- Ensure that we deliver our services to the highest standards
- Take on the leading expert role for manufacturing environments in our company
